

Information Sheet

“Impro Panto 2 : Aladdin’s Revenge” - The ImproPanto’s are back !!

Were you at last year’s sell-out ImproPanto’s ?
If not, and you’ve seen and enjoyed TV’s “Whose Line is it Anyway ?” , now’s your chance.

- What : “ImproPanto 2 – Aladdin’s Revenge”
A hilarious and unique take on the traditional panto with each performance content different depending on audience suggestions. You don’t know what panto it will be until the start as the audience choose it when they get there.
It’s great fun – Trust me !
- Who : “ImproPanto 2 – Aladdin’s Revenge”, the follow-up to last years hugely popular and successful first ever ImproPanto’s, will be performed by The Oxford Comedy Deathmatch (OCD) players, a popular and experienced group running regular improvised theatre shows (mainly for charity) in the Oxford area (www.oxfordcomedydeathmatch.com)
- Who for : To raise money for the local Oxford charity Pathway Workshop who provide meaningful work (and pay!) and trains disadvantaged and disabled adults (over 16yrs) to achieve mainline work and independent living. With no government funding their business in using recycled timber to manufacture, sell and distribute nationally high quality wood products contributes about 75% of their costs - events like this provide the remainder - so your support is really appreciated.
- Where : At the Unicorn Theatre, Checker Walk/Thames Street, Abingdon, OX14 3HZ
(Licensed Bar/separate info for free [after 4.00pm] Car Parking)
- When : Wednesday 14th to Saturday 17th December (inclusive)
Doors (Bar) Open : 6.45pm : “Curtain Up” : 7.30pm
- How Much : Just £8 per person (£6 children/concessions).
[Limited ticket availability on the door]
- How : Order/Reserve Tickets from www.ocdimprov.com

A great evening out for all ages – and for a great local charity.
Hope to see you there.
